Broadway Speaks is hosting "A Very Mary Christmas" to benefit The Ali Forney Center in providing services to homeless GLBT youth. Guests are Sandra Berhardt and RuPaul's Drag Race winner Bebe Zahara Benet (pictured in teaser photo), while performers include Nick Adam's biceps, Logo's own Jeffery Cole, Cole Escola, BD Wong and more. Tickets are available from \$25.

I spend so much time writing about homophobic NFL players and homophobic NBA players that I don't know what to do with gay-supportive NHL players. First we had a retired player write an editorial in USA Today wishing he'd done more to combat homophobia. Now we have Brendan Burke, son of hockey legend Brian Burke, coming out to his family, and his college team, and finding nothing but support.

It's not enough that The Daily Show is the best advocate we have on television, they have to go and make it even easier to love them, compiling their Best Gay Republican Experiences in a single page for us to giggle at. I love Jon Stewart, and him taking this week off has made it hard to sleep without him reading me a bedtime story.

Everybody reported this yesterday, and I avoided it, because I didn't understand it. Frankly, I still don't. E! News Giuliana Rancic hosted a mock gay wedding for actor Missi Pyle and musician Shawnee Smith, officiated by Hal Sparks, who I thought didn't get near anything gay since Queer as Folk. In any case, they got a lot of press for this event, and it benefited the Prop 8 repeal effort, so I guess it doesn't matter if I don't get it.

Over at Entertainment Weekly, Spurf Michael Ausiello sat down with Lisa Edelstein of House, and had a really dirty conversation. I want to have martinis with Lisa! And she says Lucas is hung. Seriously. She says that. Read it, but not out loud if the kids or the boss is in the room.
